We are proud to present the V CIMS International Meeting hosted by the Universidad de Córdoba, through the Cátedra Unesco de Resolución de Conflictos de la Universidad de Córdoba. The Center for Integrative Mediterranean Studies (CIMS) is an International Consortium founded in 2004 by the University of Messina (Italy), the Universidad de Córdoba (Spain) and the Virginia Commonwealth University (USA). As in the other successful editions, the contribution of an outstanding Faculty represents an unique opportunity for the participants to attend working sessions based on CIMS funded Projects, on going project submissions and new challenging opportunities.

For this purpose, the format of CIMS WORKSHOP is specifically designed to allow a wide and interdisciplinary discussions. The time assigned to each working sessions will favor an interactive participation and a focus on key points of each presentation. The topics span a wide spectrum of up-to-date issues focusing on current funding opportunities. The aim is to reinforce longstanding CIMS area collaborations and new challenging opportunity to expand the CIMS net.

It is a great privilege to welcome you and wish a pleasant stay in the wonderful city of Córdoba. Here numerous different cultures, people and ethnics, crossing the Mediterranean Basin through the centuries, continue to maintain an unique multiethnic environment.

The language of the Workshop will be English but presentations may also be in Italian and Spanish.
