OBJECTIVES

The main objective of this course is to teach basic English sentence semantics (5 units) and basic English pragmatics as two poles of a continuum from a cognitive semantics perspective, which assumes that meaning is normally motivated. Therefore, the course will pay particular attention to the main concepts of cognitive semantics.

To attain this objective, each student will be encouraged to:

- Apply the skills and concepts acquired throughout the course to examples and (con)texts other than those used by the instructor or the reading assignments to illustrate those skills and concepts.
- Integrate those skills and concepts with the skills and concepts acquired through the various linguistic subjects studied previously by the student.
- Improve her/his practical command of English, especially as regards the lexicon and phraseology of the language.

METHODOLOGY

General clarifications on the methodology (optional)

At the beginning of the course, students will receive a dossier with the set of compulsory reading assignments (the activity of reading these assignments is included in the off-site activity called here "information search", since E-Guiado does not allow me to add other categories). The instructor will briefly introduce the main contents of each unit; he will then set the reading assignments corresponding to each unit, which will be the object of class discussions structured by the instructor (who will prepare a number of key questions to ensure students will identify and assimilate the main concepts in each unit).

During the weekly hour devoted to practical sessions (here called "seminars", since the instructor will be working with small groups), students will be asked to show the results of the practical exercises set as homework for that hour and will be partly graded on the basis of those results.

At the end of the third week, students will be invited to plan and carry out (monitored by the instructor) a simple research paper connected to one of the course topics. These papers will be presented orally and discussed at class, and their written version will be handed in to the instructor.

Should no students choose to write and present a paper, the time allotted to paper presentations will be allotted to any of the other classroom activities, and the time devoted to paper preparation will be allotted to the other home activities.

IMPORTANT: Should a health alarm occur that prevents face-to-face teaching, the coordinators of the subjects involved will be required to elaborate an addendum to the corresponding teaching guide following the model used in the 2019-2020 academic year. This addendum would have to be approved by the Department Council and published both in the degree's website and in the subject's Moodle platform. To elaborate the Addendum the coordinators will follow the rules contained in the March 14, 2020 Agreement of the extraordinary meeting of the university's Governing Board.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Method of assessment of attendance:

Method of assessment of attendance and attitude:

A positive attitude, manifested in frequent attendance and active class participation both in the full-group and in the small-group sessions, will be taken into account when the numerical overall grade is a borderline grade. For example, a student scoring 4,9 points as her/his overall grade may be graded as 5 (Pass) if (s)he has had a positive attitude throughout the semester.

Students must attend 80% of classes to be graded.

General clarifications on instruments for evaluation:

Grading criteria:

- Reaching at least 50% of the highest possible combined grade in the proportion stated above for the exam, the exercises set as homework (here called "Problem solving"), and the variants of those exercises (here called "Practice book"; these variant exercises will be done by the students on the same date as the exam).

Grading tools:

- The oral and written presentation of a research paper is optional and supplements the grade obtained by means of the regular grading tools (exam, homework exercises and variant exercises) in the proportions stated above.

The students that decide to present the paper will therefore be graded like this:

- The combined grade reached by means of the above mentioned regular grading tools accounts for 60% of the overall grade.

- The grade reached in the research paper (essay) accounts for 40% of the overall grade.

- Condition: Students must have reached at least a "Pass" (50%) in the combined grade of the regular grading tools. If they have reached a 5 points score (on a 0-10 scale) in the paper but have not passed the regular grading tools, then the paper grading will be maintained only to the end of the July recovery exam period.

Plagiarism

- Deliberate substantial plagiarism in the research paper will lead to a "Fail" in the overall grade.

Clarifications on the methodology for part-time students and students with disabilities and special educational needs:

The same criteria as for full time students, except as regards class attendance, which will be taken into account only as a positive factor if the students affected at least attend a subset of all their small group sessions.

Qualifying criteria for obtaining honors:

Reaching the highest grade in the group, with a minimum of 8,5 points.

CONTINGENCY PLAN: CASE SCENARIO A

Case scenario A will correspond to a diminished on-site academic activity due to social distancing measures affecting the permitted capacity of classrooms.

General clarifications on the methodology on case scenario A

A multimodal (hybrid) teaching system will be adopted, combining both on-site and remote classes via videoconference (synchronous) that will be held in the timetable approved by the corresponding Faculty or School. The time distribution of teaching activities (both on-site and remote) will be decided by the aforementioned Faculties and Schools bearing in mind the permitted capacity of classrooms and social distancing measures as established at that time.

At the beginning of the course, students will receive a dossier with the set of compulsory reading assignments (the activity of reading these assignments is included in the off-site activity called here "information search", since E-GuiaDo does not allow me to add other categories). The instructor will briefly introduce the main contents of each unit; he will then set the reading assignments corresponding to each unit, which will be the object of class discussions structured by the instructor (who will prepare a number of key questions to ensure students will identify and assimilate the main concepts in each unit).

On-site teaching activities will be held via videoconference (synchronous) in the timetable approved by the corresponding Faculty or School. Alternative activities will be proposed for reduced groups in order to guarantee the acquisition of course competences.
