

Carlos Martínez Pedrajas, is teacher of secondary education and teaches at the Trassierra Hight School of Cordoba. Bachelor of Sciences in 1984 and Doctor Lecturer in the Chemical Sciences in 1995, he is collaborator in the University of Cordoba from 1990 and he is also member of the Software and Knowledge Engineering and Databases resarch group.

His reseach is oriented to the study of the new teaching methods, the applications of new teaching technologies, computer teaching systems, etc.

From 1993 to 1999 he has take part in a working group called "EcoQuimica", this group has been award-winning at the "Joaquin Guichot" concurse in the section "Fomento de la Investigación Educativa".

Acctually he is coordinator in a innovative teaching project wich is developing in the Trassierra Hight School of Cordoba.